HARTFORD, CT (October 8, 2013) – Entering its 92nd year, the Junior League of Hartford, Inc., (JLH) a not-for-profit organization of women committed to promoting voluntarism, developing the potential of women and improving the community through the effective action and leadership of trained volunteers, is proud to announce its Board of Directors for the 2013-2014 year. The board, under the direction of President Nancy Woodward, will oversee and manage the charitable operations of the Junior League of Hartford through May 31, 2014.

“This is a very exciting year because our League will continue to identify how we can create impact and results in our new focus area of Empowering Women and Girls to Overcome Obstacles”, said Nancy Woodward, President. “Personally, as I begin my year as President, I continue to be humbled to follow in the footsteps of the women who have come before me and I will work hard to ensure the League and its members fulfill our mission. Even though it has only been a few months, I have learned so much about true leadership and the incredible level of skills and talents of the women in our League”.

The following women comprise the 2013-2014 Board of Directors:
